A Card.

Wednesday night we were awakened from sleep by a surprise party, given by the members of the Independent Baptist Church, colored, who brought us hams; chickens, coffee, sugar, and everything one could wish for, for which we tender our heartfelt thanks.

Respectfully,

T. E. STUMM.

How the Sunday Liquor Law is Observed in Richmond, Va.

RICHMOND, VA., Dec. 29th, 1879.

Editor Roundabout:

Your editorial, of the 27th inst., relative to the open violation of the Sunday liquor law in your city, induces me to give you a few items which may prove interesting to you, or serve as an inducement to the enforcement of your own laws.

Two years ago this city had not less than two miles of bar-rooms and beer gardens (if the houses were placed side by side), all of which were open on Sunday and generally did more business that day than any other. One of the proprietors stated that his receipts on Sunday were about $500. All of them agreed that Sunday was their best day.

We, like you, had a stringent Sunday law, which was not enforced until our present Judge of the Hastings Court was appointed. He, Judge Geo. S. Christian, began to enforce the law, which called forth a tirade of abuse seldom exceeded, yet he persevered; every violator was arrested, brought into court, and fined to the full extent the law allowed, and on second offenses his license was revoked; nor was this a mere enthusiastic crusade, lasting a week or two, but has been a steady, unflinching enforcement of the law, causing offenders to reap the full penalty in every case of violation. The police were compelled, on oath and penalty of displacement, to give information of any known violation. The consequence is that our Sunday here is quiet, orderly, and sacred. You might spend the entire day looking in vain, for an open door to a bar-room. Not one dare give entrance to a man wanting liquor, fearing he may be a "spotter" ready to inform on him the next day.

Why not call the attention of a member of your City Council to these facts, and advise the enforcement of your laws in like manner.

Trusting this may be of service to you and aid in the desired reformation, I am truly your well wisher,

J. M. L.

K. M. I.

Two new pupils have arrived. Still they come.

"Far away in memory's valley," is the popular song among the cadets at present.

Col. Allen delivered a fine lecture to the boys last Sunday at chapel. His subject, "Save Your Seed Corn," was very appropriate.

What is it that fascinates our Post Graduate (W. S. M.) in Frankfort? There is certainly some great attraction. O, yes! I suppose it is the Legislature, or something else.

The Philomathean Literary Society, on Friday night of last week, debated the following subject: "Resolved, That Christmas holidays are beneficial." The negative side won.

Gen. Green Clay Smith has arrived to take his position as Professor of Law. The K. M. I. feels highly honored by having the name of the General to be numbered as one of the faculty.

The cadet officers are being conducted in a court marshal, and the Commandant is drilling the battalion in bayonet exercise. This, with the company and battalion drill, will enable the cadets to present a fine appearance next spring.

On last Saturday night a cry of horror was heard. It was very contagious, and in less than five minutes there was the greatest uproar and commotion on the barracks, more so than was ever heard on "the hill" before. The cadets rushed from their quarters toward No. 35. I tried to push through the crowd, and after many vain attempts, at last succeeded, and when I neared the spot I expected to see some dreadful spectacle. There, before me, I saw Jenkins with a razor in his hand and a frown on his face, shaving off his mustache—a huge one, and the pride of his life.

Elmville.

Married—Near this place, G. B. Riddell and Miss Mattie Crugan.

Mr. Wigginton sold to Mr. W. S. McCord forty acres of land, adjoining this place, at $20 per acre.

Married—At Walnut Grove, near this place, by Rev. Hiram Ford, Mr. Alonzo Lucas and Miss Bettie Taylor.

Dr. J. L. Massie bought a half-acre lot on Main street, this place, of Mr. W. S. McCord, for which he paid $275 cash.

Several of our citizens got into a serious difficulty on Christmas day, in which John Tackett received a severe cut in the back. It is not known who did the cutting.

Elmville market: Hogs, $4 25; cattle, 2 @ 4 1/2 cents; corn, $2 per barrel; flour, $3 50 per hundred; wheat, $1 per bushel; bachelors, on the decline—there being only two on the market.

Mr. Joseph G. Robards has sold forty-seven acres of his farm for $16 66 2/3 per acre. He is going to Indiana to engage in business, where the good wishes of his friends follow him.

Married—December 24th, 1879, Mr. Simeon Wash and Miss Mattie Calvert. Attendants—Mr. T. Tombland and Miss Elizabeth House; Mr. Jere Calvert and Miss "Sis" Tombland.

Married—In this place, December 25th, 1879, by Rev. Hiram Ford, Mr. Wm. G. Ellis and Miss Nancy Baldwin. Attendants—Mr. Ben. Baldwin and Miss Bettie Wigginton; Mr. John Poindexter and Miss Alice Wigginton.

Belle Point.

We'll have an item of interest to record the next snow, so keep your eyes open and watch for the Snow.

Col. S. V. Pence and wife, Flat Creek, have been spending the holidays at their residence in this place.

Can't we re-organize the Lyceum for the winter? What say our young men? We know the young ladies are willing.

Mr. Jas. Zook, who has been afflicted for a number of years, has been very low for a week or more. He is some better now.

The dam at Lake Park was washed out by the recent heavy rains. We understand it will be replaced with a more substantial one as soon as the weather will permit.

Our school, taught by Miss Mollie Lynch, is in a flourishing condition. Miss Mollie is quite an accomplished young lady, a splendid teacher, and a general favorite with her scholars.

Quite a number of persons were out buggy riding the last pretty Sunday afternoon. Among them we noticed our worthy citizen, the "Judge," with one of South Fankfort's prettiest young ladies.

Our little town now presents quite a business-like appearance. Judge Pence started his new Champion Saw-mill last week; after sawing a few lines in a hard oak log the saws ran together, being too close, which caused a delay of a few hours. They are doing excellent work now.

Mr. Dave Todd arrived home with his bride, nee Miss Maggie Moss, last week. They were entertained by Col. S. V. Pence and wife last Tuesday night week, and Judge W. L. Pence the next night. They will remain here a few days longer, visiting relatives and friends, and then return to Shelby county, where they will make their future home. They have the best wishes of their many friends here.

Bridgeport.

Prof. Shinn resumed his school last Monday.

Mr. Sam. Scofield has returned to his home in Louisville.

Mr. Simon Shea and family, of Eminence, are visiting relatives near this place.

Miss Sallie Bradley, of Eminence, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Willie Alexander.

Mr. Wm. Parker and wife are visiting their daughter, Mrs. James Russell, at this place.

Mr. Timothy Mayhall, who has been spending the holidays here, has returned to his home in Louisville.

Miss Janie Jackson, who has been visiting relatives in Shelby county for several weeks, has returned home.

I beat you on Christmas presents. I received a pack of fire-crackers, three kisses (candy), two raisins, and a few peanuts.

Prof. J. H. Shinn, Superintendent of the Sunday-school here, began the quarterly review last Sunday week and finished last Sunday.

Married—On the 28th of December, 1879, by the Rev. Mr. Phelps, Mr. John E. Herndon and Miss Mollie Armstrong, both of this vicinity.

Married—On the 18th of December, 1879, at the residence of the bride's mother, Mr. Henry Sargent, of this county, and Miss Mary Botts, of Boone county.

Married—On the 6th inst., at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. Jephth Parrent, by Rev. T. J. Stevenson, Mr. Jno. Sanders and Miss Evaline Parrent.

We had quite a lively time here Christmas. The men fired Mr. Scofield's cannon (the anvil) and the boys made free use of fire-crackers and Roman candles. No body hurt.

Died—On the 25th of December, 1879, at the residence of Dr. U. V. Williams, of consumption, Mrs. Martha Hetzelgesser. Her remains were taken to Indianapolis for interment.

Elder Thos. N. Arnold preached an excellent discourse last Sunday week on the "Parable of the tares and wheat." Elder George Darsie filled his regular appointment in the afternoon of the same day, and also delivered a fine sermon. Bro.

FRANKFORT, JANUARY 10, 1880.

A Disgrace.

It is a burning shame to this proud old Commonwealth that such a man as he of whom the correspondent of the Courier-Journal recently spoke as "the lost found" is allowed a seat in the Kentucky Legislature. The Speaker of the House, in making up the various committees, put him on the Committee on Religious and Moral Institutions and on the Committee on Agriculture and Manufacture. Discovering that he had gotten drunk and taken lodgings in some of the low dens of vice that are said to infest the lower portion of the city, the Speaker had his name stricken from both committees, believing that he was not a fit person to be associated with gentlemen.

The good people of his county should call a mass meeting at once and demand the immediate resignation of this mis-representative of his constituency, and if he refuses to resign, the House should lose no time in expelling him from membership.

The Frankfort correspondent of the Courier-Journal tells how this creature wandered away Saturday evening, in a drunken fit, and excited the fears of a few who felt an interest in him—they believing he had been foully dealt with—until Monday evening, when he was discovered in a state of maudlin drunkenness.

Such conduct is disgraceful in the extreme, and deserves more than a passing notice from the Legislature and the press of Kentucky.

One of the Senators also has been behaving most disgracefully since his arrival in this city, and a public reprimand from the Lieutenant Governor would not be amiss. Unless there is a speedy reformation on the part of this law-maker, the dignity of the Senate will demand his expulsion.

We are requested to announce that there will be a meeting of the friends of General Grant at the court-house next Thursday evening, at 7 o'clock. Hon. John D. White, of the House of Representatives, will address the meeting.

A Card.

Are the Members of the City Council Afraid of the Police?

Editor Roundabout:

As is well known to everybody who lives in South Frankfort, we have two men on police duty in South Frankfort who are totally unfit and incompetent to fill the offices. They are known to have been drunk on several occasions—one of them having been so beastly drunk once while having a man accused of murder in his charge that his prisoner took charge of him and carried him home. The other is said to have started down the street once, while drunk, with the avowed intention of stoning the house of a widow woman, but he was kept from the execution of his purpose by the intervention of friends.

These facts were told to three members of the City Council privately by myself, and no action having been taken by the Council in reference to the matter, I went before that body on Tuesday night, previous to the election of officers, and made complaint in open meeting of the conduct of these so-called peace officers, and asked, in behalf of the citizens of South Frankfort, and in the name of decency and good morals, that a change be made. Instead of making the change the same men were re-elected to office within the same hour.

Mr. Major, the Mayor, told me that it had told him of these facts that he would have suspended the offending officers, but the re-election of the South Frankfort police is an evidence of the insincerity of his assertion.

Does this look like the Council had the best interests of the people at heart? Does it not rather look like the police knew a thing or two that would not do to make public, and that the members of the City Council are afraid to dismiss them from the service?

W. R. BACON.

Much of our space is given to the proceedings of the City Council and to correspondence, all of which will be found interesting.

There were eighty-one interments in the Frankfort cemetery during the year 1879—sixty seven of which were white persons and fourteen colored.

Mr. Darsie preaches at the Christian Church to-morrow morning on "A Glorified Countenance." The usual service at night. The public is cordially invited.

Gen. Green Clay Smith has accepted the chair of Law at the Kentucky Military Institute. This is quite an acquisition to the faculty of that institution of learning.

At the meeting of the stockholders of Kentucky Industrial Association held at the court-house in this city last Monday, it was unanimously determined to continue the fair.

The advertisement of Mr. Logan McKee appears in this issue. He is in constant receipt of new goods adapted to the wants of the people, and should receive a liberal patronage.

Read the advertisement and Local Notices of Williams Bros. in this issue. They have a choice lot of cigars, tobacco, and smokers' articles at their telephone office, corner of Market and Ann streets.

There were twenty-two fires in this city during the year just past, and five false alarms. Besides these, the fire department was called out three times—once for a fire in Leestown, once for a fire in Belle Point, and once for a fire in Lexington.

We are under obligations to Dr W. H. Hall, of the Central Drug Store, for a copy of Vick's Floral Guide. It contains much valuable information to be obtained from no other source, and is a work that is almost indispensable to every person who cultivates flowers.

At a meeting of the Democratic County Committee held at the court-house in this city on Monday, it was decided to hold a primary election on Saturday, the 31st inst., for the purpose of determining who shall be the Democratic candidates for the county offices to be filled at the next August election.

A certain gentleman wishes us to say that he combed his head before going to church last Lord's day, and that the feathers seen in his hair were put there by a young lady sitting in the pew behind him. He did not thank her for them then, as it was in time of worship, but wishes us to do so for him in this public way.

G. B. Thomson & Bro. have an advertisement in this issue. These young men have one of the neatest and best arranged fruit stores in town, and should be liberally patronized.

Capital Lodge, No. 6, I. O. O. F., will have a public installation of officers, at their hall, next Monday evening, at half after seven o'clock. Ladies and gentlemen cordially invited to attend.

The Police Court, under the management of Judge W. H. Sneed, is now on a self-sustaining basis. Over eighteen hundred dollars was paid into the city treasury from this source last year, being more than was required to run it. Besides the amount paid into the treasury, the Mayor remitted over five hundred dollars in fines.

Captain H. I. Todd tried being a member of the City Council for a year, and discovering that he could effect no reforms and accomplish no good with seven men against him, he tendered his resignation at the meeting Thursday night, which was promptly accepted. Seven to one was too much for him—worse than eight to seven.

Several children were playing in the yard of Mr. L. Labrot, Thursday afternoon, and having gotten hold of a bottle of powder, were pouring small portions of it on the ground and setting fire to it for the purpose of seeing the flash. While thus engaged the bottle exploded, burning the face and hands of Sylvester Labrot, a little fellow about eight years old, painfully but not seriously. He was doing well at last accounts.

The Frankfort depot of the L. C. & L. R. R. received and forwarded during the month of December, 1879, 194 cars of merchandise, 131 cars of coal, 71 cars of grain, 142 cars of salt, lime, cement, lumber, etc., making a total of 538 cars. This is three times the amount of business transacted at this depot in December, 1877, and twice as much as was transacted in December, 1878. This speaks well for the increase of business in Frankfort.

The Western Citizen, published at Paris, by F. L. & J. R. McChesney, comes to us this week in a bran new dress, inside and out. New head, new body type, the paper enlarged to forty columns, and half full of advertisements are evidences of prosperity that make our heart glad. We congratulate our friends of the Citizen on the improved appearance of their paper, and wish them a corresponding increase of prosperity, for they surely deserve it.

Mr. W. R. Bacon went before the City Council before the election of officers took place Tuesday night, and complained of drunkenness on the part of some of the police force, and asked that a change be made. The Council disregarded his petition by re-electing the officers complained of, and now it is boldly asserted on the streets that the Council is afraid to make any changes. Well, it has that appearance to a great many who are only interested lookers-on, and, in consequence, credence is being given to the rumor that members of the police force are assessed ten per cent. of their salaries every month as the price of their retention in office, and the amount so raised is applied to the payment of the debt incurred by our city fathers in securing their election last January.

Plain Statements.

The following extracts are taken from the Good Templars' Advocate published at Louisville, the best and staunchest temperance paper in America. It should be a weekly visitor to every family in Kentucky. The subscription price is only one dollar a year.

We are glad to see that there is a general disposition on the part of temperance people to force the subject to a political issue. If the temperance principle can be brought to bear on partisanship befouled and struggling with whisky influences, surely it ought to be done. So long as whisky-excited and addled brains rule the State and General Governments there is little hope of any kind of political reform.

The venerable Doctor Parker, of New York, than whom there is no better authority, said a few days ago to a World interviewer, that sixty per cent. of the crime of the country and fifty per cent. of the insanity of the country, are due to an intemperate use of alcoholic drink. We pass and enforce laws to prevent the destruction of fish and fowl so that the sportsman may have his sport; for the protection of property and to prevent extortion. Is it not quite as important that we enforce the laws to prevent this source of crime and insanity?

The New Reservoir.

FRANKFORT, KY., Jan. 7th, 1880.

Editor Roundabout:

In answer to your questions concerning the new reservoir I take pleasure in assuring you that every point referred to was amply attended to in the original plan of the work. In the finished dam there will be a wier, or waste way, cut through the hard rock of the south hill side, 25 to 6 feet deep; a substantial wall of sufficient height will be constructed as a wing to protect the embankments from the action of the overflowing water. When the work is completed, the water of the pool will nowhere be in contact with the masonry "diaphragm" or core. As our hopes have been fully realized in the particulars of stopping any flow of water under or around the dam, 60, having the matter entirely within our control, no water will be permitted to pass through the fully developed work. The 12 inch main will discharge at the foot of the dam, under a full head, 12,000,000 of gallons in 24 hours. The same pipe, if brought to Frankfort, will discharge but 1,600,000 gallons. In actual service, it will supply a population of 8,400 with 50 gallons of water each, daily. If the 6 inch pipe is retained as well, it would add about one-fifth, or together would supply a population of about 10,000 with 50 gallons each, every 24 hours. No sluice pipe, or culvert was put in the dam, because the fewer holes in the dam the better. Water is most insidious in its ravages, and no one can absolutely foresee the result of passing a conductor of water from the bottom of a pool, 50 feet deep, through a dam to the foot of the slope below. Again, the two service pipes, already in, will discharge, on a full head, over 14,000,000 of gallons daily, which being reduced with the subsidence of water, would empty the pool in 10 days. Lastly, no sluice will ever be needed. The basin will not, in any reasonable time, require dredging out, and when it does, if ever (I know it never will), a little scouring in the very channel would do no earthly good; it would have to be emptied and then the sediment carted out. But, sir, 45 inches a year is our average rain fall, and so far (as ascertained by careful observations on the effects of floods), I find that 4 inches of rain caused a deposit of one eighth of an inch of sediment over the bottom; thus 45 inches would yield say 1 1/2 inches yearly, which in 100 years would raise the bottom 12 1/2 feet, still leaving 22 feet of water below the lowest level to which the pool will ever be reduced.

So far as the influence of leaves, &c., are concerned, none need be allowed to enter the basin; if they do, it will never be in sufficient quantities to appreciably impregnate the water; and, if impregnating the water, it is a question to be determined by sanitarians whether the great preponderance of the cedar element, in this case, would or would not be of any disadvantage to the water. All other questions I answer in a word—storage reservoirs exist the world over, and are yearly growing in favor. The only two questions to be solved are, first, the quantity and character of the water supply, and secondly, how to retain it.

Respectfully,
R. H. FITZHUGH.
